

Light Commercial Replacement Equipment

You're just a phone call away from "problem solved."

When your customer has an HVAC system breakdown that requires urgent repair, you've got to move fast or you risk losing the project . . . or worse yet, the customer.

Your success depends on a business partner who gives you the right advice – and the right replacement equipment and parts – right now.

Get the right equipment – right away

Now you can buy replacement equipment directly from a Trane Parts Store. We have an extensive inventory of rooftop and split systems located near you, in warehouses electronically linked across the country. Most likely, we'll have what you need in stock – and we can get it to your job site within forty-eight hours.

We're here to help. With one quick call, you'll get a price quote in minutes. And we'll work with you to make sure you get the right solution – for you and for your customer.

You'll find the nearest Trane Parts Store location listed on the back cover.
